Core Network Diagram:

Fluidata's core network provides customers with new levels of redundancy and resilience. Homed across four major datacentres, Fluidata is able to ensure that core systems will keep working even in the event of complete failure at one of the sites.

We also interconnect with key providers at different sites to ensure services such as Fluidata's resilient Advance and PureFluid products continue to operate should Fluidata or a partner network suffer a fault.

This is transparency our customers expect.
